By Way of Explanation . . .

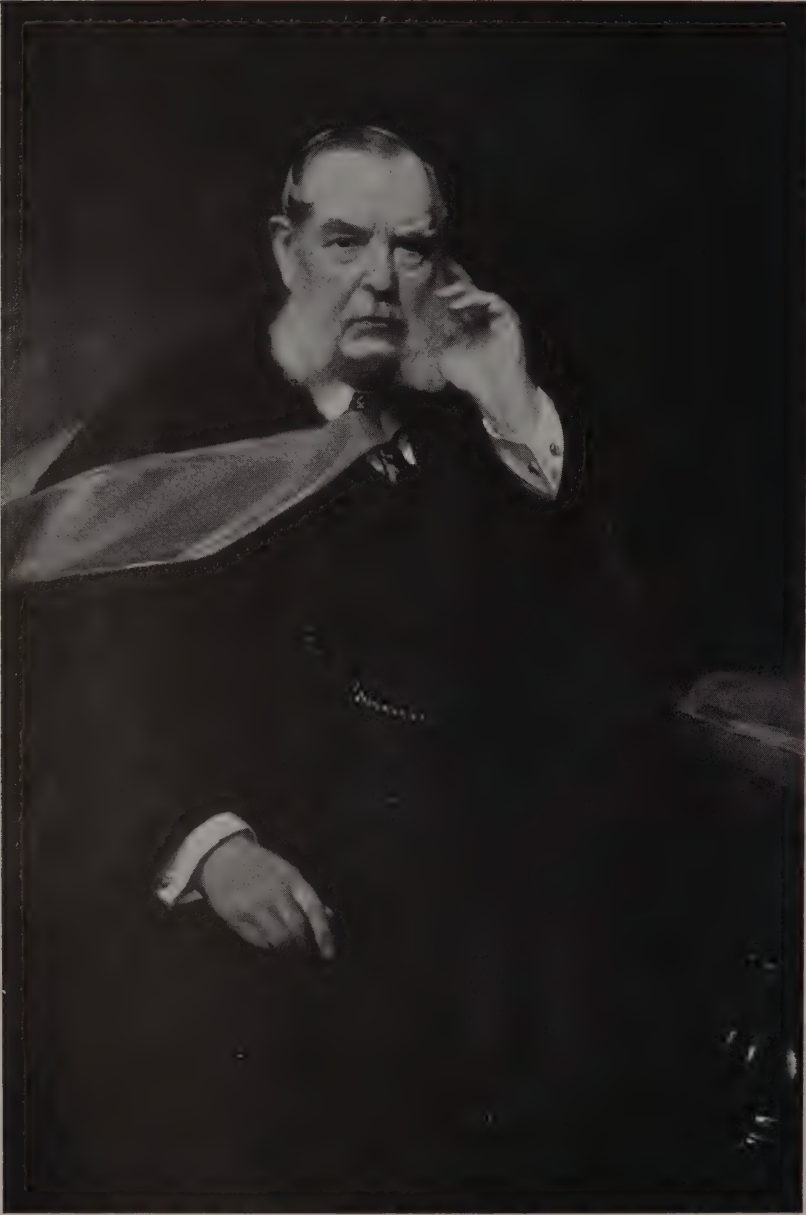

Somewhat hesitantly but with a sigh of relief we present this, the first peace-time Harvard Business School Yearbook, the first since 1943. Because of the present accelerated enrollment program it has been impossible to devote the book to any one class or term; instead, we have tried to make it represent as faithfully as possible the varied activities and occupations since the "business as usual" sign was hung out on February 13, 1946.

Students covered include all those terms enrolled in September, 1946, together with two Advanced Management groups. It is realized that there have been others since the first civilian registration; because these were men who had been at the School previously and therefore were in other Yearbooks, they have reluctantly been left out. Pressure of space is our excuse, and we hope there will be no hurt feelings.

Publishing this Yearbook has been a lot of fun. In spite of rising prices, paper shortages those ever-lovin' reports and all the rest of it, the Editorial Committee has enjoyed its work. It hopes you will enjoy it too.

A Message from the Dean

Gentlemen:

You men came to the School with the feeling that you had made a contribution in a great struggle fought, as Mr. Conant has said, to turn back the tide of tyranny in freedom's darkest hour. You came also with the hope that in the future you would be able to live your own lives in an atmosphere of peace and good will in a society where each individual would have the opportunity of acquiring for himself and his family the rewards of character, enterprise and ability.

Within this first year following the cessation of hostilities, however, we have all realized that as yet we have no real peace. People in many lands, our own included, are worried by their feeling of fear and frustration, by their concern lest a growing conflict in ideals carry us into an even darker hour. Furthermore, we know there are conflicts within our own country which tend to undermine our established institutions, overthrow our system of private enterprise, stifle competition, and limit opportunity for the individual. And I emphasize opportunity, for I believe that the freedom of opportunity provided in this country for young men to amount to something under their own power is one of our greatest heritages. Individual opportunity has been offered here in greater abundance than in any other country in the world, and as we have followed the rewarding road of risk, venture, and opportunity, America has grown great.

These strange forces from without as well as within must be met and met squarely by this country if we are to preserve our free society. In this encounter we will need great leadership, a far more literate and responsible leadership than we have known. Much of that leadership must be provided by the business community, by men with courage and wisdom and integrity, men who appreciate the power of human aspirations as well as the significance of facts.

This, gentlemen, is the challenge to you, as you leave the School to take your place in the business Community. Yours is the opportunity and responsibility to help provide an enlightened leadership which will preserve for our children and our children's children the opportunities of free men.

The Harvard Business School Association

The Harvard Business School Business Association, revived in February, 1946, is the official organization for the student body of the school. Its activities have ranged from sponsorship of dances to talks to the members by leading men in all types of activity, and it has maintained, through the University Relations Committee, constant liaison with the faculty seeking to advance the greatest good of all concerned. Other matters under its aegis include sponsorship of the Harbus News and the Yearbook, and a program of athletics.

The first executive served from February to September, 1946, additional members being elected from the class registering in June, 1946. Since September, 1946, officers have been elected on a one-term basis. Members of the executive from February, 1946 to January, 1947 were:

The Harbus News

Official organ of the Harvard Business School Association, the Harbus News resumed publication on June 11, 1946, after its wartime lapse. Since that date it has published a four-page sheet twice monthly during term-time, with special eight-page editions on registration day.

In addition to keeping the student body informed of goings-on about the school, both past and future, the Harbus News has afforded through its editorial and "Letters to the Editors" department a chance to men in the school to get it off their chests, on a variety of things from gripes about the grading system to views on the parking lot and the Students' Club. The original mast-head and that of January, 1947 are:

The Chicago Club

The Chicago Club, first of the regional clubs to be formed, was organized during the summer of 1946. It was formed to facilitate the social contacts among persons currently in the HBS coming from or intending to settle in the Chicago area; to become acquainted with members of the HBS Alumni Club of Chicago through vacation meetings in Chicago; to entertain alumni from Chicago when they visit the campus; and to facilitate for its members the transition into the Chicago HBS Alumni Club upon graduation.

In addition to its social objectives the Chicago Club has worked with the Placement Office in the interest of its members.

The International Business Club

The International Business Club was formed in October, 1946. Its purpose is to acquaint members with problems and opportunities in international business, living conditions and business procedures in foreign countries. Frequent meetings are held at which there is a talk by a business man in some branch of international business, followed by refreshments, questions and informal discussion. Members include a number of students from foreign countries.

Officers and members are: Don Hinkley, Jr., president; E. P. Spear, vice-president; John P. M. Johnston, secretary-treasurer; Francois de Courcel, John Moot, G. S. Karki, program committee.

The Marketing Club

Formed in March, 1946 by a small group of sales-minded students, the Marketing Club has grown from fifty to two hundred members in its first three terms. The purpose of the founders was to bring prospective marketeers into closer contact with men both inside and outside the school who were active in the marketing field; and to give them better understanding of the problems currently found in the business area.

Active interest has been shown in the bi-weekly club meetings which include an informal get-together and a talk from some prominent business executive. A series of panel discussions were added in the weeks between regular meetings covering specific topics ranging from sales promotion and advertising to procurement and foreign trade. The club has been fortunate in having had members of the Advanced Management Course as leaders of many of these discussions.

Present Sessions Club

The Present Sessions Club was formed to provide an interested group of members from Section F with an opportunity to discuss problems of the day. Formed along the same line as Benjamin Franklin's "Junto" club the key note is informal group gatherings. Further to broaden the discussion professors and other visitors with special interests are invited to attend the weekly meetings.

A diverse group of men consisting of Frenchmen, Canadians, Englishmen, Americans, and Texans stimulate the meetings by their different viewpoints. The Club has no elected officers but is directed by a Chairman who is generally one of the members versed on the subject.

The Club was formed by Robert Danielson last summer. He acts as general chairman and business representative. The club's future plans include joint discussions with Trade Union representatives on many current business problems. The members are:

The Rostrum

The Rostrum was organized in the spring of 1946 to promote effective public speaking practices among its members, and has met weekly since. At each meeting a Topicmaster, appointed by the Chapter Chairman, announces a topic on which each member must give an extemporaneous, one minute speech. In addition, twenty minutes of each program is allotted to a Toastmaster and four speakers who may utilize the allotted time in any form of public speaking: brief speeches, panel discussion, debate, interview, staff conferences, etc. Members are appointed as special critics to give frank criticism of poise, gestures, diction, grammar and organization of the speeches.

Each Chapter is limited to thirty members, and there are at present two in the school. Chapters are supervised by an executive committee representing each unit.

The San Francisco Club

Organized in September, 1946, the purposes of the San Francisco Club are:

1. To establish business and social contacts with fellow students who will be working in San Francisco and Northern California.

2. To maintain close liaison with the Harvard Business School Club of San Francisco.

3. To hold regular meetings to discuss business activities and opportunities in San Francisco and Northern California.

Membership is open to any Harvard Business School student who is interested in the area.

During the September-January term a number of speakers have been heard, and the club has held three parties.

The Texas Club

The Texas Club was formed in November, 1946, by a group of thirty-seven Texas students. The purpose of its formation was to establish a closely knitted organization to enable all Texans to become better acquainted, and to establish closer relations with Texas alumni in order to assist in placing graduates of the school in Texas. The club is also encouraging the participation of all students from other states who intend to make their homes in Texas.

These purposes have been carried out in a program which has consisted of a dance, smokers, and guest speakers. Extensive ground work has been done by the placement committee and alumni in the Houston and Dallas areas along the lines of placement and active alumni organizations.

Athletics

With the recrudescence of the Student Association and its swelling of membership, Executive Board members decided early upon a sponsored program of organized athletics. With the president appointing an athletic committee to co-ordinate and aid and abet the Harvard Athletic Association in furnishing facilities and organizing events, athletics became an important part of the daily life of the B-School student.

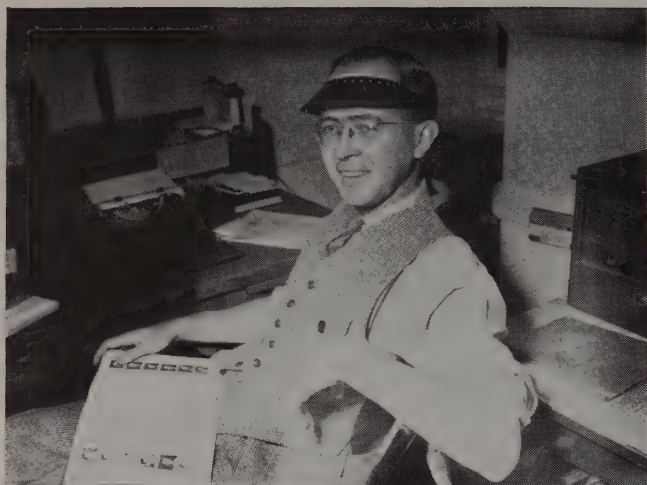

In the fall a golf tournament was held at one of the local country clubs with Dick Harding copping the medalist prize, netting himself a nice 76 final round in a misty haze. Touch football followed in the fall. A league of seventeen teams was organized, rules drafted, fields lined. Net result—lots of exercise, fun and obesity lost, with Section “H” Hotshots taking the prize for the season.

With the coming of winter, squash and skiing jumped immediately into the limelight. The Student Association sponsored the organization of a Ski Club whose membership rapidly rose to 75. Car-pooling was arranged, information disseminated; local and week-end skiing trips became a popular vogue.

In the field of indoor athletics, basketball sprang into prominence. With the co-operation of the school administration and the H. A. A. plans were made in the late fall to convert Potter Auditorium into a gymnasium for the use of the students. The floor was sanded and striped for a basketball court, two volleyball and three badminton courts. An intra-mural basketball league was initiated and the turnout was so large that it became necessary to form them into two leagues—the “Hot Stove” and “Cold Stove” leagues. Two games were scheduled daily and after a few weeks of practices and league games, it became apparent that the venerable ex-college men had not completely lost their touch in hitting the hoops.

A point of the basketball season was the forming of a Harvard Business School Varsity. The “Bees” were staffed with exceptional talent, and up to printing had lost one, won three in local games under the leadership of Co-Captains Bud Loewith and Bill Downey.

For the future, the athletic committee plans a golf team, golf tournament, tennis tournament and the usual spring softball league. Bit by bit facilities are being organized for bigger, better and more convenient athletics for the B-School Student.

Acknowledgments

Publication of this book was made possible only through the generous help and assistance of those listed below, and to whom the Editorial Committee is sincerely grateful. The Editor is especially indebted to Miss Mabel Morris, whose aid and support were invaluable.

Mrs. W. A. Barnes, Mrs. C. M. Christiansen, Mrs. J. A. Cross, Mrs. C. H. Prentice, Mrs. R. M. Slettvet, Mrs. R. H. Wilson, and Mrs. A. E. Willis assisted with the compilation and selection of pictures.

Mrs. Russell Loftus, Miss Joan Rosencranz and Don Brophy rendered material aid with make-up and editing.

Miss Doris Anderson, Miss Alberta Dunk, Miss Helen Eastman, Miss C. C. McAuliffe, Miss Ann Peterson, Miss Dorothea Talbot, and others on the school staff helped in many ways.

Bob Wiley contributed the article on Athletics.

And finally, our sincere thanks to Mr. Paul Blanchard of the Warren Press, who made a good best of a trying situation.

Picture credits: pictures of Professors Copeland, McNair and Selekman are by Bachrach; of Professor Merry by the Marshall Studio; and that of the basketball team is by John Hansen.
